

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA. MONDAY, AUGUST 9.

Senator Morton; of Indiana, made a speech at Urbanna, Ohio, on Saturday, in which he asserted that Alexander H. Stephens was a reppresentative Southern man and democrat, and held that the views of that gentleman in tavor of State soverignty were "bloodstained and treasonable doctrine," and that they were indorsed by the Northern democrats. He believed that, with but few exceptions, the democrats regarded the colored people as a race that ought still to be enslaved. He then spoke in favor of the specie resumption bill of the last Congress and criticized the Ohio democratic platform, combatting the greenback theory and claiming that it was a hypocritical and treacherous desing to destroy the national banks, then to destroy the greenbacks themselves, and finally restore the old State bank system.

On Thursday, the 4th inst., there was a reunion of the surviving members of the Tenth Virginia Regiment of infantry at the Yellow Massanutten Springs, in Rockingham county. This regiment was composed principally of Rockingham companies, and was engaged in every important battle of Lee's army. Only about forty surviving members of the old regiment were present. An organization was effected, having for its object the future annual meetings of that and other commands of the counties of Rockingham, Shenandoah and Page. Speeches were made by Charles T. O'Ferrall, formerly Colonel of the Twenty-third Virginia Cavalry, Dr. S. H. Moffett, the former surgeon of the Tenth, and Captain John Paul, of the first Virginia Cavalry.

The O'Connell Centenary festivities in Dublin, Ireland, were concluded on Saturday by excursions, boat races on the Liffey, athletic sports, and a concert in the evening in the Exhibition Palace. An amnesty demonstration, attended by forty thousand persons, took place at Glasnevin, where O'Connell is buried. The Centenary was observed in London by a banquet, a majority of the guests being Home Rulers. A riot is reported to have occurred at Glasgow between the Orangemen and the Havana by a Spanish man-of-war. Home Rulers, during which five policemen are the police. The military are held in readiness to suppress further disorder.

The Lynchburg Republican says: -"We are pleased to see that the mineral interest of Virginia are now attracting a great deal of attention outside of the State. The press should endeavor to disseminate information on the subject, as in this manner they can confer a lasting benefit on the State. We confidently believe that the day is not far distant when the iron interest of Virginia will equal that of Pennsylvania."

VIRGINIA NEWS.

At a meeting of the Conservatives of King George county, held at the Court-house on Thursday last, the former executive committee was re-elected and resolutions adopted pledging the meeting to support no man who will not pledge himself, if elected, to maintain the credit and honor of Virginia by using every effort to discharge the obligation of the State and spurn every measure looking to repudiation; also setting forth the necessity of a reduction of expenses in the State government in its various departments, especially in the Legislature, and pledging the nominee, if elected, to use every effort to reduce the pay of members to $4 00 a day, and oppose an extension of the session of the Legislature beyond ninety days. It was decided that a mass-meeting of the citizens of the county be held at the Court-house on September court day to nominate a candidate for the House of Delegates.

The Dogue farm, situated between King George Court-house and the Rappahannock river, containing 284# acres, with excellent dwelling and outbuildings, has been purchased by Mrs. Harris Forbes for $5,300. Wm. H. Scribner's farm, containing 96 acres, six miles | business is just as liable to have one of them as below the Court-house, has been purchased by Jas. Scribner for $305.

FRUIT GROWERS' FESTIVAL. - On Saturday last the Woodlawn Fruit Growers' Association and a number of farmers from Maryland and the District of Columbia, with their families. in all, between 400 and 500, enjoyed an excursion and pienic, on the Mary Washington, down the Potomac to Quantico.

The arrangement of the tables for the exhibition of produce was well done. Judge Gray, of Falls Church, Va., exhibited a basket of the largest Hale's early peaches, and very fine.

Dr. E. P. Howland, of Mt. Vernon Springs, Va., exhibited a fine lot of peaches and crab apples, several varieties of each, among them Hale's early, with a basket of rotten ones, to show how they decay. Although this used to be a popular and profitable peach, and is of the highest and finest flavor, it is now generally repudiated on account of tendancy to decay. Samuel Pulman, of Mount Erin, near Alexdria. two fine specimens of plums, yellow and blue gages.

Benjamin Barton, same neighborhood, several fine pears, crab apples and black currants; also a new and useful device for pulverizing and smoothing the soil of the fields. N. W. Pierson, same neighborhood, fine ap-

On the whole the exhibition was highly creditable and satisfactory, and was an occasion long to be remembered with pleasure by both the Woodlawn and Fruit Growers' Societies. The day was pleasant, and the officers of the Mary Washington exerted themselves to promote the comfort of the passengers. The younger portion of the assemblage enoyed a season of dancing.

After lunch and picuic refreshments had been enjoyed, the Woodlawn Society was called to order in the cabin for a business meeting, C. Gillingham, president, in the chair, and N. W. Pierson, secretary. Transportation, fruit preserving and other business was discussed. After a report by Dr. Howland on the subject. the Potomac Fruit Growers then assembled for a business meeting, C. Gillingham in the chair, and J. E Sundgrass as secretary. Dr. Gross made some remarks on the healthfulness of eating plenty of fruit, and upon modes of preservation of fruit.

On motion, a committee was appointed to correspond with the officers of the Philadelphia Centennial and to make arrangements for exhibition and representation on that occasion. On motion it was decided to hold the September meeting on the first of the month instead of the first Tuesday, to make arrangements for another fruit display the latter part of that month. The assemblage was then organized into a joint meeting of both societies.

Hallcck, a clerk in the Department, Brown, a suspicious character around Washington, and Ottman, a restaurant keeper of the same city. Brown was arrested on Thursday at Saratoga, where he was sporting in fine style, and spending $500 bills as though he had a bushel of them, and the other two on Saturday. Detective Miller took Brown aside and suggested that it was rather an unusual thing for him to spend $500; that people were talking about it: that there might be some explanation necessary, and finally that he thought they were part and parcel of the money stolen from the Treasury. Brown simply said that it was no unusual thing for him to have money, and that he had borrowed $2,500. This statement he subsequently modified by saying that a friend had given it to him to invest, and that he was investing it. He was then directly charged with having changed one of the identical hotes, any other note.' The first arrest was kept secret, and only became known through a writ of habeas corpus being sued out for the release of Brown on the ground that he was illegally held. This was refused, and the man remained in custody. Halleek had a memorandum book which, it appears, will be important in evidence.

At a meeting of the Conservative party of King George, held at the Court House, on Thursday, August 5, 1875,

The meeting was called to order by Major John D. Rogers, County Superintendent, and addressed by him as follows: "We are assembled to day, under public notice, for the purpose of organizing our party for the fall election, and knowing, as we do, that parties in this county are nearly equally divided, it behooves us to exercise great prudence and caution in adopting measures best calculated to insure success. Above all things the utmost harmony should prevail, and individual interests should be yielded to the public judgment of the people of our county. The leading subjects which claim our attention to-day are: 1st, whether in selecting a candidate to represent us in the next House of Delegates the mode prescibed by the State Executive Committee shall be adopted or some other mode more acceptable to this meeting. 2d, the re-formation of a county committee, composed of three active Conservatives from each magisterial district, one of whom shall be chairman, and by virtue of that position County Superintendent."

The meeting was then organized by the appointment of John D. Owens Chairman, and Wm. E. Baker Secretary.

The resignation of Major John D. Rogers as County Superintendent, which had been tendered at the time of vacating the chair, was then submitted to the meeting, and, on motion, his resignation was not accepted. Tue following resolutions, offered by Doctor R. H. Stuart, and warmly advocated by that gentleman in an earnest and impressive speech, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, 1st, That the constitution of Virginia demands the payment of the State debt as imperatively as it noes the establishment of free schools or the levying of a tax to support the 2d, That we condemn repudiation in every form in which it may be proposed as unconstitutional and dishonest. 3d, That while no State can impair by legislation the obligation of its contracts, it should never attempt to violate or annul them by re fusing to observe them or to make provision for their fulfilment On motion of C. H. Ashton it was resolved that the thanks of the Conservative party of this county are eminently due, and they are hereby, tendered to Major John D. Rogers, our worthy County Superintendent, for the very efficient, energetic and faithful manner in which he has discharged the onerous duties of his office. The meeting unanimously adopted the following preamble and resolutions, offered by Chas.

3d, That while we cannot approve of the hasty and unsatisfactory manner in which the public debt has been adjusted, believing as we do that the United States, as the author of our poverty and the unjust cause of depriving us of the most thrifty portion of our population and valuable part of our territory, in violation of the fundamental law of the land, has made itsel; morally, if not legally, responsible for the debt, yet we can never consent that the name of Virginia shall suffer under the name of repudiation, and pledge ourselves to do all in our power to protect her reputation to the extent of her just liabilities, and trust to better times and a returning sense of right to reimburse us.
On motion, the old committees in the several districts were retained. The meeting then proceeded to consider a plan for the nomination of a candidate for the next House of Delegates, and,

On motion of Julien J. Mason, it was agreed that the Conservatives of the county assemble in mass at the Court House on Thursday, the 2d day of September next, (that being Court day) and by general vote select a suitable candidate. The meeting then adjourned.

MY NAME HAVING been announced as a candidate for a seat in the next House of Delegates of Virginia, I avail myself of this method of soliciting the suffrages of the voters, subject to the decision of a convention. HUGH LATHAM.

NOT WISHING to detract from the claims of any gentleman whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Conservative nomination in this Senatorial district, composed of the counties of Loudoun, Fairfax, Prince William and Alexandria—city and county—permit me, through your valuable columns, to bring forward the name of a gentleman whose business qualifications entire him to any position the people of this district may think proper to honor him with. That gentleman is ORLAN-DO W. HUNTT, of Fairfex. In bringing for-ward the name of Mr. Huntt there is no need of any eulogy from me. I need only re er you to his past stewardship, in which every public trust confided to his keeping has been so ably and so honorably performed, and with such entire satisfaction to all. Dignified, but courteous to all he has endeared himself to the citizens of his native county by lasting ties, and the time honcred county of Fairlax-nay, even this noble old Commonweath-might well toel proud to have such a representative in her legislative halls. FAIRFAX. Centreville, aug 9-1t
